

When Survivors Relocate: Attaining Privacy and Safety

March 17 – 19, 2009

Crowne Plaza Riverwalk
San Antonio, TX

Victims of domestic and sexual violence and stalking often flee their homes for safety without adequate information regarding their legal rights and obligations. This conference will share effective tools for working toward victim safety and privacy, including the following:

- Technology Abuse and Survivor Safety
- Challenges When Relocating
- Child Custody and Virtual Visitation
- Data On The Web and In Databases
- Address Confidentiality
- And Much More

Who's Invited

OVW grantees who are providing services for survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking.

Registration is free but participants can use OVW funds for travel, meal, and hotel costs. Priority will be given to Transitional Housing, Disabilities, and STOP Grantees, but the conference is open to all grantees based on available space.

The conference will be held at the Crowne Plaza Riverwalk in downtown San Antonio (group rate of $117/night). Please wait to book your hotel accommodations until you receive your registration confirmation. Once you are confirmed we will send you the booking information and group rate code.
